In life's grand tale, an adventure unfolds,
Each step a journey, every breath a quest,
Through valleys low and peaks where dreams lie bold,
We wander, seeking truth in every test.

With each sunrise, a new chapter begins,
In every heart, a yearning to explore,
Through joy and sorrow, where hope always wins,
We find the courage to open each door.

From fleeting moments to all of times gaze,
Life's tapestry weaves tales of love and strife,
In laughter shared, and in silent, sad days,
We find melody in this dance called life.

So let us embrace this beautiful time,
And open our hearts to all things alike.
